SUMMARY.

FARMER'S EXPOSITION OF AUTUMN FASHIONS

THE WORLD'S FINEST CREATIONS. INCOMPARABLE STYLES EXHIBITED IN WINDOWS AND SHOWROOMS.

The "Daily Chronicle" says the Government's plan for the settlement of the Ulster problem is not one for the exclusion of Ulster. It provides the journal explains, for the giving of administrative autonomy of the most generous character.

Mr. John Burns stated at Stockport that he did not anticipate a general election for the next year.

Speaking at Nelson Mr. Ramsay MacDonald appealed for a still stronger Labour party in the House of Commons.

He contended that with 100 members they ought to be in the Chamber, and exerted every effort to be.

A petition signed by 15,321 Nonconformists, a majority sent to Mr. Asquith, protesting against the Welsh disestablishment.

In a letter to the Archbishop of Canterbury, Mr. J. S. Zambell pleads for a settlement of the Kikuyu controversy.

He says that the consultative committee of bishops is likely to be prejudiced.

The British Labour party contemplates hiring a tug to meet the strikers from Africa on board.

Several thousand persons "forswelled" the services of two of the deported strikers, who are proceeding to rejoin their husbands.

It was predicted that the deported men would soon return to Africa.

The Dublin police have been exasperated by the strike disturbances, while suppressing the strike disturbances.

The Insurance Act is a prominent topic in the campaign for South-west British Isles. Riotous scenes have occurred in the Japanese City in connection with the anti-tax measure.

The Porte is disappointed with the Note of the Powers giving Greece certain of the Aegean Islands.

The British Consulate was burned during the strike, and the Government forces and the rebels in Esmirada, Ecuador.

Mr. Vedrines, the airman, who has returned to Paris, has challenged M. Quinton, president of the Aerial League, to a duel.

Seven people were severely injured and nearly 100 hurt in a religious riot in India.

It is stated that the brain of the late M. Bertrand, of finger-print fame, weighed 160 grammes above the average.

A Japanese railway loan of £2,500,000 is being issued in London.

The shipwrights did not resume work at Gobet Island yesterday morning, although the work was there.

Five ship yards were able to open, and those that did were soon sold out.

The Homebush sailing agents have decided to offer sheep and cattle at the sale yards to-day.

A meeting of the butchers' employees last night rejected the proposal of the Minister to refer the dispute to a wage board.

The strikers intend to ask the Government to allow them to slaughter, and open shops to sell meat.

The master butchers met last night, and passed a series of resolutions.

They will endeavour to secure supplies of fresh meat for local consumption, and undertake not to employ free labour.

Meat is to be sold for export while the strike lasts.

A thousand employees will be thrown out of work at the boiling down and rendering works in the Botany district.

The business of the Superior Court in various parts of the State will be suspended over the Christmas vacation.

M. D. R. Hall was congratulated by the Full Court yesterday upon his appointment as Attorney-General.

Mr. Niel Nielsen will represent the Government of New South Wales at the Panama exhibition.

A Ministerial conference was held yesterday, at the representation of the State's premier, Mr. E. C. E. Smith.

There is to be no additional vote for protecting this year.

Mr. Justice Heydon delivered his judgment in the inquiry regarding the cost of living.

His Honor found that £5 as a week was a living wage in Sydney at the present time.

Branches of the Liberal League are being formed throughout the Macquarie electorate.

So far only one protest has been lodged against the return of a member at the recent State elections.

among the men against this cleaning up. They claim that the employers promised some weeks ago that other arrangements would be made, and they also gave the employers notice more than once that they would not continue to do this work. The last notice they say fell due on Saturday. Only a few of the aborigines yesterday afternoon left on Saturday. When the aborigines went to start work this morning the superintendent, Mr. J. Roberton, declined to allow them to use dirty pens. He offered to allow them to use a few of the clean pens, but the men declined to do so. The aborigines yards were thus thrown into idleness.

The aborigines committee of the City Council, however, decided to put on their own employees to do the white-washing, and to charge the employers with the expense involved. The committee prepared to carry on in this way pending any other arrangement. The men will therefore have an opportunity of commencing work again this morning. Quite recently the aborigines obtained an advance of 10/- a week in their pay.

CRISIS LOOMING.

FEDERATED EMPLOYEES' DEMAND.

A meeting of the Victorian branch of the Federated Meat Employees' Union, at Melbourne, has been held to discuss the demands of the employers for a reduction of 10/- a week for butchers, and 12/- for carriers for a week of 48 hours, in place of the existing rates of 43/- for shopmen and smallgoods, 22/- for general hands, and 22/- for carriers for a week of 52 hours.

A meeting of the branch will be held on Thursday night to hear the result of the demand, and there may be a general strike if the report is not satisfactory. The men have ignored the wage board altogether in their negotiations. A meeting of the wages board has been arranged for Wednesday afternoon. The men, however, expect action by either of the parties. The Minister has power to suspend the determination of a wages board for 12 months.

Mr. Alexander Mackay is hopeful that a settlement of the board would be reached. If the determination of the board were suspended, the effect would be that the employers would be able to pay whatever rates they might choose for any labour offering.

BELOW THE MINIMUM.

BEARING OF MR. JUSTICE HEYDON'S REPORT.

Subsequent to the interview of the employers' committee with the Minister, the question was put to Mr. Estell whether, as he thought that the report issued that afternoon by Mr. Justice Heydon, President of the State Arbitration Court, on the cost of living, would have any influence on the award in coming to a decision on the offer of an immediate appeal to the Court for a re-opening of the whole of their case.

Mr. Estell referred the question to Mr. Holmes, who is more familiar with the terms of the existing award. Mr. Holmes' opinion was that Mr. Justice Heydon's report would probably have a favourable influence.

He pointed out that under the existing award a large number of men are working for less than the absolute minimum cost of living.

The carriers, for instance, get under the award £3 per week, while the man who drives a cart in addition to assisting in the shop (carrier-assistant) gets £2 10s per week.

Mr. Justice Heydon has laid down that the minimum unskilled labourer, when doing light work, should get 6s per day, or £2 10s per week. When doing ordinary work, the minimum is placed at £2 10s per week, and when employed to do heavy work, the minimum is laid down at 10s per day, or £2 10s per week.

ACTORS' DAY.

CHARITY AND THE STAGE.

HUGE CROWDS AT WHITE CITY.

Probably the biggest crowd on record since the opening of the White City thronged its premises yesterday afternoon. It was "Actors' Day," and pretty nearly every man or woman connected with the Sydney theatres, from the star to the call-boy, had turned out to help the cause of charity.

How many people really passed through the turnstiles must remain for the present a matter of conjecture. In the evening the attendance was, if anything, greater. Standing on the plateau near the entrance, the "Merry Whirl," or any of the sumptuous side-shows that make the White City what it is, one drew breath in wonder at the unbroken sea of heads and hats that stretched away on all sides. It was like being stranded on a rock in mid-ocean with a racing tide.

And the roar of the sea! It was enough to strike terror to the boldest. The roar, it would have been, if it had not been for the roar of the excitement of merriment, of whole-hearted enjoyment, doing the veriest cynic and misanthrope good to hear. Who could help laughing, as he listened to Jack Cannon, weirdly attired as "Sarto the Sorcerer," telling helplessly absurd fortunes; as Mrs. Wykeham, dressed, as Mr. Jabbard well would have said, in the "garb" of a hooker, inviting the crowd to try a "little" of her, and as Mr. J. H. D. Jackson, once a history books relate, a king who never smiled again, but then he never witnessed Actors' Day at the White City. The crowd, however, was too much for him, and he fled, as Jack Cannon, though a bit of a "pride-night," between Little Speck (19th and) and Big Bob Grier, who weighed over 180s, but who would have been 180s if he had not been so fat, had a solid fatal. The excitement caused by this vigorously contested battle was tremendous, and when it was once, as history books relate, that caused nearly split the welkin, whatever the world may be. Even the terrible contests for the Australia Day championships, between P. Leslie and Alan Stone hardly evoked such enthusiasm.

But the actors and actresses did not confine their fun to the "stage." They had a field day, and, though they had a laugh after all, it is seldom fatal. The excitement caused by this vigorously contested battle was tremendous, and when it was once, as history books relate, that caused nearly split the welkin, whatever the world may be. Even the terrible contests for the Australia Day championships, between P. Leslie and Alan Stone hardly evoked such enthusiasm.

OLYMPIC GAMES.

AUSTRALIA'S PLACE.

QUESTION OF ABORIGINAL COMPETITORS.

A suggestion which may have an important bearing on Australia's place in the Berlin Olympic games of 1916 was made by the president of the amateur Athletic Union (Mr. R. Coombes) at a picnic function given for the entertainment of the visiting American athletes during the week-end. Mr. Coombes said that it would be interesting to get a few aborigines to witness the javelin and discus throw, and exhibition of the Caucus and Tasmania. The men will therefore have an opportunity of commencing work again this morning. Quite recently the aborigines have advanced an advance of 10/- a week in their pay.

The aborigines committee of the City Council, however, decided to put on their own employees to do the white-washing, and to charge the employers with the expense involved. At the meeting of the branch will be held on the 21st.

The report deals with Cockatoo Island dockyard, Port Stephens, Jervis Bay, and Flinders Naval Base in Western Port (Vic.). Dealing with Sir Maurice's findings, Senator Miller stated:

"I have examined the report of this inspection by Sir Maurice. It is a saving of at least £200,000.
